Pivot Tables from Scratch

Pivot Tables are one of the most revered – and feared – elements Of Excel. In this one-hour session we explode some of the myths of creating a Pivot Table and cover preparing the data, inserting a Pivot Table, data analysis, grouping and customising the Pivot Table (including adding Slicers). Intermediate level.

Extending and Customising a Pivot Table

In this one-hour session we continue our exploration of Pivot Tables, and cover Expanding Pivot Table functionality, adding a Calculated Field, Show Values As, creating multiple Pivot Tables from one dataset and an introduction to Pivot Charts. Introduction level.

Expanding a Pivot Table & Normalising Data

In the final Pivot Tables session, we conclude our training on this subject by discovering how the same field can display different outcomes, adding a running total, adding a “Difference from” field, Adding Grouping and using “normalisation” to eliminate duplicates.

Data Consolidation

If your role involves combining sets of data that span several periods of time, it can be tricky if they are laid out and formatted differently. This is where Excel’s Data Consolidation tools are useful, and in this session, we look at several options for consolidating data by position, by category, by formula and for Microsoft 365 users, by using Power Query.

Data Tables Sensitivity Analysis

Sensitivity analysis is a process by which different results can be predicted according to several variables. This is an important stage in making informed business decisions, and in this one-hour session we look at using a Data Table with one and two variables and adding dynamic visualisation with a heat map. Introduction level, no experience required.

Date and Time Functions

Excel has many functions dedicated to dates and times, for example to “date stamp” an invoice or identify the number of days holiday entitlement a colleague is due. In this one-hour session we will explore some of these including DAY, MONTH, YEAR, EOMONTH, DATEVALUE, WEEKDAY and NETWORKDAY. Practice files are included, suitable for any level.

Excel Tables

Because of Excel’s tabular format a lot of people believe that they are already familiar with tables, but they were only introduced in Excel 2010 – prior to this a crude version existed as a List. Excel Tables use a new type of cell referencing, called Structured Referencing, and have a lot of amazing new features, one of the main benefits being that their dynamic behaviour allows the data to grow over time. In this one-hour session we look at tables and structured referencing in detail. Introduction level, no experience necessary.

Logical Functions

Logical functions in Excel allow you to have the program make decisions based on criteria you specify. A simple example could be to calculate a discount based on the amount a customer spends, but it can become a lot more sophisticated than that. In this one-hour session we examine IF, SUMIF, SUMIFS, COUNTIF, AVERAGEIF, AND and OR and combinations of these in an easy-to-understand way. Introduction level, no experience required.

Lookup Functions

Every Excel user knows that VLOOKUP is a tricky function to manage, but there are alternatives few people are aware of. This session will explore the other lookup functions on offer including HLOOKUP, INDEX, MATCH and for Microsoft 365 users XLOOKUP. We look at the pros and cons of each so that you can confidently use the right one for your circumstances. Intermediate level.

Visualising Data

In this session we discover how a simple Pivot Table and Chart can be graphically filtered to show your best performers over time, how a set of data that includes geographical information can be mapped and filtered and how data can be plotted on a globe! Intermediate level.

Text Functions

Excel has a number of functions specific to text rather than numbers. In this one-hour session we look at some of these, including LEFT, MID, RIGHT and combinations thereof in order to generate unique values that could be used for many purposes. Typical examples could include budget codes, usernames, passwords, or unique identifiers for records in a table. Introduction level, no experience required.

Auditing Error Handling & Protection

Auditing tools allow users to problem solve formulas and ensure accuracy and error handling is an essential skill for anyone performing calculations in Excel. This one-hour session examines both and explores the many levels of protection that can be applied, something that is more important now than ever. Introduction level, no experience required.

What If Analysis

Excel has a number of tools that allow predictions to be made depending on several variables. This can be very useful as a means of making informed business decisions, for example how much prices need to rise by to return a certain level of profit, or which combination of products will give the optimum return. This one-hour session examines Goal Seek, Scenarios and Solver – all part of the What If analysis toolset. Intermediate level.

Programme: PowerPoint

In today's world, we rely heavily on the use of technology to communicate, share information, create, and analyse data and create documents. Office 365 is a powerful, convenient cross-platform productivity suite with Word, Excel, PowerPoint training sessions. Designed to ensure you learn how to use these platforms efficiently and effectively and with confidence.

Create a PowerPoint Presentation from Next to Nothing

Microsoft 365 now includes some amazing features, and in this one-hour session we discover how a plain text file can become a fabulous presentation in just a few minutes. We cover design ideas, stock images, transitions and animations too! Introduction level.

PowerPoint Hints and Tips

PowerPoint is in use everywhere in business, but few people have been trained in its use. In this session we look at some of the rarer features of the software including the re-use slides feature, converting a bullet list into a SmartArt graphic, and formatting a chart. In addition, we look at the amazing range of images and illustrations now available and add an individual touch with icons. Introduction level, no experience required.

Closing Techniques

This session is 1 minute long. Closing is easy – just ask for the business... but the remaining 59 minutes is spent on the build up to that moment. Often closing is many sales colleagues biggest fear, but this session looks at ‘why’ and how to make sure it’s the most natural (and anticipated part) of the sale for both you and the client. We also look at the whys of the ‘no’ to help you prevent it moving forward.

Negotiation Techniques

Why is negotiation so important? How can we effectively negotiate and get our point across in a succinct manner? How can we encourage people to come around to our way of thinking? This session will explore ways to help you be stronger and more effective negotiators both with your colleagues and external clients.

Handling Renewal Accounts

If only our customers could be for life! But the reality is, since the moment your prospect turned in to a paying client, their assessment of your value (maybe subconsciously) has been ongoing. How do we prepare for these meetings? What should we do in advance with the clients? This session looks at all these elements giving you confidence to talk to these clients ‘prepared’ for all potential outcomes.

Cross Selling and Up Selling

The objective of cross-selling can be to either increase the income derived from the client or to protect the relationship with the client or clients. The approach to the process of cross-selling can be varied – join this session to learn ways of how to ask questions and learn more about the client’s needs and goals to expand their scope and identify white space opportunity.

SEEDL Group is excited to introduce the SEEDL Foundation, an initiative aimed at fostering stronger connections with our valued Enterprise clients and our Community partners — Local Authorities (Councils) and Business Improvement Districts (BIDs) throughout the UK.

The SEEDL Foundation underscores SEEDL Group's commitment to making a positive impact on the communities served by our clients. This innovative program will facilitate charitable donations to the chosen charities of our partner clients on a regular basis, aligning with our shared values and dedication to community development.

The SEEDL Foundation operates on a straightforward yet impactful premise. Regular charitable donations will be made to the nominated charities of our enterprise clients, and community partners. The donations are contributed by new business referrals and upgrade opportunities, meaning all parties 'win together': deeper learning opportunities, commercial opportunities and community fundraising.

This initiative reflects SEEDL Group's dedication to corporate social responsibility and community engagement. By fostering collaboration between businesses, community partners and charitable organisations, the SEEDL Foundation aims to create a positive ripple effect that extends beyond the realm of education.
